PROTECTED LANDSCAPES

Between the Épine mountain and the Rhône River lies the Pays du lac d'Aiguebelette, a region of remarkably unspoilt landscapes of water and mountains...

Lac d'Aiguebelette, a Regional Natural Reserve

Peaceful waters in emerald shade, lush aquatic fauna and flora, scenic boathouses, enchanting wild islands... How could you not fall for the delightful Lac d'Aiguebelette? Since 2015, the lake and a part of the forest in the Épine mountain have been listed as a Regional Natural Reserve. Covering an area of 844 hectares, it is one of the biggest reserves in the country, and is renowned for its remarkable natural habitat.

Chartreuse Regional Natural Park

Since 2022, the Lac d'Aiguebelette and its surrounding villages have been part of the Chartreuse Regional Natural Park. The purpose: to protect and enhance their natural landscape and cultural heritage, and to promote their sustainable economic and social development. This rapprochement is very meaningful, since the limestone rockfaces, the caves, the forests and the summits around the lake herald the landscape of the Chartreuse mountains.

Haut Rhône français, a National Natural Reserve

25 km long between the dam of Champagneux and the natural passage of Malarage, it is the biggest forestry river reserve in France. It is home to a rich biodiversity, subject to increased monitoring and protection.

The Pile Dwelling sites, inscribed on the World Heritage List

Remains of prehistoric settlements dating from the Neolithic and Bronze Age. Due to the climate change and the rising water levels, the sites, originally situated on the shores of the lake, are now underwater. Since 2011, the site of "Beau Phare" (South of the lake) has been inscribed on the World Heritage List. Discover a 4,500-year-old pile at the Musée Lac & Nature!

The boathouses

There are several of them on the lake. The "Village Nègre" (South of the lake) is particularly remarkable and to be approached by boat.

VIEWS

Get your camera and binoculars ready, here is a selection of breathtaking viewpoints!

Mont Grêle

Only accessible on foot, at the cost of a difficult hike (13 km and an elevation gain of 800m), the Mont Grêle, on the edge of the mountain, offers a magnificent view: the Lac d'Aiguebelette, just below, and far away, the Lac du Bourget, France's largest natural lake.

Belvédère des fils panoramic viewpoint

You can reach the Belvédère des fils, at Saint-Maurice-de-Rotherens, by car, by bike or on foot. Following the path, you will get to a terrace at the edge of the cliff, 500 meters high, with a spectacular 180° view on the Rhône River.

Chenevières rest area

In front of the village of Sainte-Marie-d'Alvey, nice viewpoint on the plain of the Guiers River. A viewing table lets you understand that 180° wide landscape view.

Col de l'Épine panoramic viewpoint

A wonderful view over the lake and the Chartreuse mountains, accessible by car from April to October.

Église Saint-Alban-de-Montbel

From the church of this little village, the view over the lake, its islands, the reedbeds and the Épine mountain is magnificent.

Practical details about the beaches at the Lac d'Aiguebelette :

- Animals and barbecues are not allowed on the beaches.
- All the beaches are 'non-smoking areas.'
- To enjoy the beaches, you must pay an entrance fee. This is only fair : there you will find a range of services, including lifeguard surveillance. If you are already on the beach when the surveillance starts, you will be asked to pay the fee.
- For your safety and the preservation of the environment, swimming is prohibited on the wild shore of the lake. If you don't want to use the beaches, consider hiring one of the several gentle navigation options to take a dip offshore.

Other places to swim :

- Lac de Romangnieu and its leisure base
- Aquatic centre Val d'O in Les Abrets-en-Dauphiné

Check here for more information

- pedal boat renting
- kayak/canoe renting

- accessible for PRM

Navigation fee

This fee covers the operating costs of the surveillance and preservation of the natural environment carried out by the Communauté de communes du lac d'Aiguebelette. Buy it at La Maison du Lac, or on cccla.fr.

Paddle along the wild shore or towards the small islands. On the lake, navigation is smooth and peaceful. For an exotic experience and great gliding sensations, also try paddleboarding on the wild Rhône river!

Hire a small electric boat to effortlessly admire the beauty of the lake.

Try your hand at rowing, like a champion. In 2024, more than ever, the departmental rowing base will be living to the rhythm of the preparation for the Olympic Games, as it has been certified as a 'Preparation Center for the Paris 2024 Games.' You may well encounter the elite of the sport there...

Choose a Canadian-style canoe, a safe -and dry- way to discover the unspoiled nature of the lake all year round.
